"Mentoring is an important asset for the professional development and growth of a CEO. In the framework of the Mentoring@8400 program I was privileged to embark on this relationship and meet, on a regular basis, with a unique and experienced mentor who has already successfully been through "the drug development journey" and is also sensitive enough to empower her mentee. In order to truly benefit from the process, the mentee must be committed and keep an open mind. If one has enough self-confidence to admit and openly discuss his/her difficulties and doubts, this kind of dialogue is priceless." - Yaron Pereg, Ph.D., CEO, KAHR Medical
